Part I

	YES	NO
1 Does the organization have a racially nondiscriminatory policy toward students by statement in its charter, bylaws, other governing instrument, or in a resolution of its governing body?	1	✓
2 Does the organization include a statement of its racially nondiscriminatory policy toward students in all its brochures, catalogues, and other written communications with the public dealing with student admissions, programs, and scholarships?	2	✓
3 Has the organization publicized its racially nondiscriminatory policy through newspaper or broadcast media during the period of solicitation for students, or during the registration period if it has no solicitation program, in a way that makes the policy known to all parts of the general community it serves? If "Yes," please describe. If "No," please explain. If you need more space, use Part II While effective advertisement design allow lengthy text (and thus a text-based description of the PBA's non-discrimination policies) we have found that pictures of students which illustrate the diversity currently found at the PBA school and after school programs communicates this message effectively, and stimulates inquiries from a diverse applicant pool of families. We are then in a position to provide more text-intensive materials that describe our non-discrimination policies, and offer applicants evidence based on our current student body.	3	✓
4 Does the organization maintain the following? a Records indicating the racial composition of the student body, faculty, and administrative staff?	4a	✓

The organization asks all families who wish to apply for tuition assistance to utilize a service that calculates in a systematic fashion whether or not a family's income and/or assets lead them to need financial assistance. This service, called SSS, normalizes across families an assessment of their ability to afford tuition. A financial aid committee reviews each request and follows a pre-established set of principles to determine who should receive financial aid. Similar processes are used to determine financial aid for tours and camps.

Part V Supplemental Information

Complete this part to provide additional information for responses to questions on Schedule L (see instructions).

The school and the lenders have agreed to sell the site rather than invest further capital in it. Lenders are not requesting repayment or interest until the site is sold, although the written agreement called for interim interest payments. The school is technically in default of loan conditions but with lender's consent. Furthermore, loan agreement states that interest is only due if the site is sold for gain.

As a result, the school is in no fiscal danger from the loan agreement.

Part VI Section B, Line 11: All board members were sent a copy of the blank form 990's to review. Every year, the changes in the 990 - particularly those around governance - stimulate new discussions around how we can better govern the organization.

Part VI, Section C, Line 19: All relevant documents are available upon request at the PBA front office.

Part VI, Section A, Line 5: The PBA came to believe that someone who it had hired to be its book keeper was diverting funds for personal use and was masking this diversion through inaccurate accounting entries. The PBA immediately terminated and then brought charges against this individual. He was arrested, is out on bail, and awaiting trial. PBA is working to recoup the funds that were diverted. In response to this event, the PBA reviewed, clarified, and made more restrictive procedures designed to prevent such a diversion.

Part VI, Section B, Line 15: First, the PBA is a member of the East Bay Independent School Association (EBISA) through which it has been able to understand salary ranges for various positions. Second, some past and current members of the PBA board are in education, and thus have a sense of salary ranges per position. Third, the PBA, as a young and growing institution, has had the need to hire staff from other more established institutions in recent years; each hire from another school brings new benchmarks. Fourth, other institutions make offers to PBA staff in an effort to recruit them; their offers also provide benchmarks.

Part VIII Line 24f : Other expenses include tour expenses, property taxes on a property owned by the PBA (not used for school operations), loss provision for uncollectable funds due the PBA, bank service charges, and miscellaneous expenses.

Part XI, Line 5: PBA's $115,733 change in net assets or fund balances was due to the combination of an significant increase in accounts receivable (reflecting the school's growth) plus modest increases in accounts payable and unsecured notes.

Part XII, Line 1: PBA traditionally accounted on a cash basis. It put a new emphasis on accrual accounting when it purchased capital assets - namely a bus and a mansion designed to house the school. However, PBA discovered that accrual accounting created complexities in accounting for many other high volume transaction portions of its business, leading is bookkeeping hours and complexity to significantly rise. As a result, the organization returned to a cash accounting basis. This decision was reinforced by the organization's plans to sell the mansion that it had purchased and remain a renting organization.
